ERMA THE ELF.

Miss Putnam's Last Performance in Honolulu.

This Tuesday evening is set apart for the final appearance of Katie Putnam and her company of clever comedians. "Erma, the Elf," a sensational comedy-drama, written by the author of the "Old Lime Kiln," will be the play in which the charming favorite will assume three characters—that of Erma, the Elf, the Indian Princess Nanonoe and His Infernal Satanic Majesty. A feature of the performance is the great sensational fire scene. The villain attempts to murder his wife and to conceal his crime, sets fire to the house. Erma, disguised as the devil, dashes in through fire and smoke, frightens him from his hellish purpose and saves the woman.

The performance will be a memorable one, inasmuch as Miss Putnam, at the request of her many friends, will sing all the successful songs she has sung during the present engagement, including "Kentucky Babe," "Honey, Does You Love Your Man?" "Swim the Golden River," "Sweet Lucinda," and "Paola," the beautiful Spanish waltz, song and dance, with the castnet accompaniment.

Mr. O'Hara will also sing "I Found It Here in Honolulu—and Alone." The full strength of the company will be called into requisition. Let a full house be present and give the little star the send-off she so richly merits, and make the night a memorable one in Honolulu theatricals.

CHINAMAN SUICIDES.

Ah Fook's Body Found in Alleyway of Oahu Jail.

At 10:10 a. m. yesterday, Ah Fook, a Chinese prisoner at Oahu Jail, was found dead, having committed suicide by means of a short piece of clothes-line and the cloth belt he usually wore about the waist.

At 10 o'clock he was seen by Guards Kaimihau and Huihui walking into the dispensary. From there he went into the alleyway of the jail proper, where old Parsons is to be found at all times. In just a very short space of time Parsons cried out that Ah Fook had committed suicide. Running to the alleyway, the guards found the body of Ah Fook on the ground. The cloth had been tied around his neck, and in the death struggle this parted from the rope. The man was quite dead 10 minutes after he was seen walking into the dispensary. Dr. Cooper examined the body.

Soon after death a Coroner's jury was called together before Deputy Marshal Hitchcock, and a verdict of suicide handed in.

Ah Fook was convicted of unlawful possession of opium in Lihue some time ago, and upon removal to jail escaped from the officers and came to Honolulu. He was captured and sent to Oahu Jail to work out his time. When captured he remarked to one of the officers: "It makes no difference where you imprison me; I shall die anyway." Ah Fook was a leper suspect, also, and although he had not been examined, was being kept under close surveillance.

Whose Business is It?

MR. EDITOR:—The humane authorities of San Francisco were recently called upon to stop Chinese fish vendors from scaling fish while living. In this city, we have practiced at our market cruelty that outstrips even that of San Francisco. I refer to the practice of at least one of the stalls of skinning a certain variety of scaleless fish and also removing the entrails, while no attempt is made to kill the fish outright, and strange to say, they live for some time after this inhuman treatment; they are a peculiar variety and very tenacious of life. When remonstrated with, the Chinaman who does it, gave as a reason that the fish would live for half a day after being caught. I would suggest that persistence in this cruel practice ought to work the forfeiture of a vendors' license. Surely, it is some one's duty to interfere officially and stay such useless cruelty.

"OBSERVER."False Rumor.

Some malicious persons have taken it upon themselves to spread about town the statement that no person with native blood will be allowed on the Cyclomere Bicycle Track, now being built by C. S. Desky. It is understood that this floats from the same source as other stories, calculated to hurt certain interests. Inquiry brought forth a wish expressed that the statement be emphatically denied in the columns of this paper. No such thought ever entered the mind of the man who is building the track, and any stories of the kind may be set down as the fabrications of mischief-making people, who, having been "turned down" in one or two propositions, are now seeking to do injury.

Native Born.

In support of Allen Herbert's statement regarding asparagus, published in the Advertiser on Saturday, Mr. Fred Waterhouse has handed to a reporter for this paper a bunch of the stalks of this delicious vegetable, having every appearance of being a better quality than that imported. Mr. Waterhouse grows this at his place on Nuuanu avenue, and has it on his table every day in the year. The stalks are tender for about seven inches, and have none of the tough strings so noticeable and objectionable in the California asparagus.

Steamer Cummins Returns.

The Oahu steamer J. A. Cummins, Searle master, returned from Kona yesterday forenoon, after having taken A. Gartenberg to the bedside of his sick wife in Keauhou. The Cummins arrived in Kona at 6 a. m. Sunday and sent a boat ashore with Mr. Gartenberg and the mail. A telephone message from Keauhou was to the effect that Mrs. Gartenberg was much better. Her husband then took the Cummins to Keauhou, and the steamer started again for this port at 12 noon.

Kawaiahao Church.

The Kawaiahao Church, Sunday morning, there were, besides a very large native congregation, about three pews of foreigners. Rev. H. H. Parker was at his best in propounding to his congregation the glad tidings which Christ the Lord brought to earth by His presence among men. Christ as an example was one of the main points. The Saviour had expressly put before His disciples the work it was necessary for them to do. That work is what every follower of Christ should take up and it is by them that the "glad tidings of great joy" should be spread broadcast among the people. Action is the pass-word-action with the Christ as the kindly impelling power. The sermon was a strong one and its lessons went straight home.

Always judges a man by his appearance. School books are responsible for the old maxim: "Never judge by appearances," but experience has taught us that a well-dressed man can "walk all 'round the one who is careless in dress."

HOW TO FIND OUT.

You are wondering what to get for Summer. Take a half-hour to see what has imported for this particular Summer—1897.

You are under no obligation to buy. If you've made up your mind beforehand not to buy, come in all the same. If you've made up your mind to buy elsewhere, still come in.

We'll show you everything; we want you to see it. The fact that you've made up your mind beforehand shows that you've done some thinking about your clothes. You shall do more, if you come; and you shall be better able to suit yourself at Jones', or Brown's or Robinson's.

We shall be glad to have every man, that has made up his mind against us, make this use of our store—call it school if you like—no school was ever freer. Your money back if you want it.

We don't intend to let any man in this town be a stranger.

Don't wait; come today.

Look at furnishings too. The rule is the same; your money back if you want it.
